

A pixelated, grayscale version of the Google logo. The letters are composed of large, square pixels in various shades of gray, giving it a retro, low-resolution appearance. The logo is centered horizontally and takes up most of the width of the image.

A pixelated, black and white representation of the number 19. The digits are composed of various shades of gray and black pixels, giving it a digital or retro aesthetic. The number 1 is on the left, and the number 9 is on the right.

tealwood.